

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of transmitting digitally coded traffic information is transmitted in standard format. The information itself has a leading header and at least one data field which must include a location description. The traffic information can be transmitted, whether in standard format or is not provided in a standard format.

5

SECRET